

ALLIED NAVY JOINS ASSAULT ON ITALY

Meandering

By WASH FAYETTE

I have heard several echoes of the recent wild turkey yarn in this column, and have had two or three men tell me that some of their relatives hunted wild turkeys in Fayette County up to 65 years ago, although one of the histories of the county indicates the last of them were killed in the county around 1830.

Take for instance Hiram Rodgers, father of Union Township Trustee Will Rodgers. He was born in 1839.

Hiram Rodgers caught many turkeys with the aid of a dog, which simply followed the turkeys until they were weary and pounced upon them.

Two or three others recall that their brothers or father pursued the birds horseback when the turkeys were wet, and had no difficulty in capturing them.

Other men built rail pens with an opening at the bottom, and scattered corn outside. The turkeys followed the trail of corn into the pens, scratched leaves over the lower part and then wandered around unable to escape, because a turkey nearly always keeps its head up looking for means of escape when in a pen.

Thus it will be seen that the trusty muzzle-loading rifle was not the only means employed to bring in a turkey for dinner!

I met Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Nevin, of Humboldt, Ross County, up street a few minutes ago. They were here to purchase goods for the Nevin Grocery, only store in the tiny village, located between the D.T. & I. Railroad and Bucksin Creek in the narrow Bucksin Valley, a short distance south of Fruitdale.

They are both interesting people. Mr. Nevin has operated the one store in the village for 10, these many years, and when Uncle Sam decided to close the Humboldt Post Office a year or two ago, he had been Postmaster for a little matter of 30 years.

He knows everybody and even the dogs throughout the Humboldt area. He has some real gold that he washed from the sands of the adjacent hills, that area being one of the few places in Ohio where gold is found in its native state.

Mrs. Nevin has an interesting collection of 750 bottles, no two of which are alike. The big collection contains many valuable flasks and oddities in the bottle line.

For a number of years I have noticed the finest clump of Butterfly weed, orange milkweed, or pleuris root, in the Nevin yard that I have ever seen. It is of deep orange color and when in bloom the mass is three or four feet across. It is worth driving a long distance to see.

The Nevins also have an interesting lot of stones collected in that area, and from other sources. A visit with the Nevins is always a pleasure.

OHIO MOVIE CENSOR IS HELD FOR FRAUD

Accused of Aiding Fiance In Tax Evasion

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 2.—(P)—A federal indictment today accused Ruth Ladd Curry, 44, of Columbus, an Ohio motion picture censor, and Dahne W. Winebrenner of Galloway, O., of conspiracy to evade payment of Winebrenner's 1941 income tax.

Shortly after the indictment was returned yesterday, Miss Curry and Winebrenner obtained a marriage license here.

Winebrenner, former sales manager of the Baker-Lockwood Manufacturing Co. of north Kansas City, is under indictment in a war contract fraud case.

'No Sense Waiting Longer,' Says Kentuckian Citing Coal Mine Tie-up

QUICK ACTION IS EXPECTED

Meanwhile, Gasoline Shortage And World Trade Come In for Discussion

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(P)—Behind the cry that "now is the time for action," the House Military committee carried to the floor today its fight for an anti-strike law.

Despite opposition voiced by spokesmen for five government agencies yesterday, Chairman May (D., Ky.) declared the committee would demand House action today.

Rep. Colmer (D., Miss.) announced he had been assured by Speaker Rayburn of recognition to call up the measure, known as the Smith-Connally bill, this afternoon, and added he expected debate to last several days.

"There is no sense in waiting any longer," May said. "The coal strike is upon us and the people are demanding that Congress do something about it."

While too late to stop a strike already in progress, he added, the legislation would prevent future walkouts and would make illegal any continued work stoppage in the coal mines so long as the government operated them.

It would outlaw strikes in government-operated plants, requires

BRITISH CIVILIANS SUFFER IN WAR TOO

Two Are Killed in Raids for Every Five in Battle

LONDON, June 2.—(P)—Two civilians were killed or injured in air raids in the United Kingdom during the first 20 days of the war for every five casualties among the kingdom's armed forces, an analysis of official figures showed today.

Total casualties among the fighting men of the United Kingdom during that period, Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee announced yesterday, were 25,844. Total civilian air raid casualties for the same period were 102,934—or 4,291 killed and 55,643 injured.

Since then civilian casualties have risen to 106,516—including 48,033 killed and 5,783 wounded—at the end of March, the last announced figure.

Leslie Howard on Missing Airliner From Portugal - - Reported Shot Down

LONDON, June 2.—(P)—A spokesman for the British overseas airways said today that a British passenger airliner "disappeared yesterday en route to England from Lisbon, and reports from the Portuguese capital said the actor, Leslie Howard, was among the 13 passengers."

The reports from Lisbon said the plane with its Dutch crew was shot down in the stormy bay of Biscay about half way between Lisbon and England and that concern was felt over weather reports which indicated it would have been difficult for the passengers to take to their rubber boats.

A Berlin broadcast, reporting from Lisbon that the plane was missing, said "it was feared it met with an accident."

Earlier, the German communists reported Nazi reconnaissance planes had shot down three Allied bombers and "one transport over the Atlantic."

Howard had been in Spain recently canvassing the possibility of producing films there.

Pay-Go Tax Bill Nears Approval

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(P)—With a certainty reserved only for death and taxes, the Senate set the machinery in motion today for final congressional approval of compromise legislation putting all taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Congressional leaders are confident that once legislative formalities are completed, President Roosevelt will sign the bill—or at least let it become law—with these practical results to the average taxpayer.

He will find himself for the first time in his life paying the federal taxes on his income as he earns it, either through a 20 percent payroll levy which would go into effect July 1, or through quarterly installments made on the basis of his estimated net receipts for the year.

He will find, in most instances, 12½ percent added to the amount he expected to pay out this year in income taxes, plus an identical 12½ percent the following year, but those extra bills won't be due until March 15 of 1944 and '45.

He will find from 75 to 100 percent of what he now owes in income taxes abated, but to him that will remain largely a book-keeping operation until his income declines or until the second certainty—death—steps in. (He will never get any money back, just pay less at some future and uncertain date.)

He will have to pay his June 15 installment on last year's income just as if Congress had never considered changing the system that has existed since 1913.

All of this will be accomplished by technical provisions which would, as Rep. Knutson (R., Minn.) described it in the House when that body approved the compromise measure on a 256 to 114 yesterday, put into effect "5 percent of the Ruml plan" for skipping a year's taxes.

With three Republicans not voting, the Ohio delegations voted 1 to 3 for adoption of the conference report.

The Ohio roll call: Republicans for—Bender, Bolton, Brehm, Brown, Carson, Cleveland, Elston, Griffiths, Hess, Jeffrey, Jenkins, Jones, Lewis, McGregor, Rowe, Smith, Vorys, Democrats against — Crosser, Feighan, Kirwan.

UNITY THREATENED BY FEUD BETWEEN FRENCH LEADERS

Foe of DeGaulle Appointed as Deputy by Giraud

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALGIERS, June 2.—(P)—Gen. Henri Giraud appointed Vice Admiral Emile Muselier deputy to himself as commander-in-chief and charged him with maintaining order in Algiers and vicinity today in the midst of confusion and strain attending the birth pangs of the new French governing body.

This appointment followed a strange exchange of letters in which Marcel Peyrouton, who once signed an order for the arrest of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, submitted his double-barreled resignation to De Gaulle and Giraud from his post as governor general in Algeria in response to De Gaulle's demands for a house-cleaning.

The appointment of Muselier, former member of the Fighting French hierarchy who later broke with De Gaulle and is now regarded as his bitter opponent, was expected to add to the increasing tension between the French factions which only Monday came together in a new executive committee for the purpose of giving unified direction to the French war effort.

De Gaulle had Muselier under house arrest in London at one time after Muselier had taken the lead in the Fighting French occupation of St. Pierre and Miquelon, islands off the Newfoundland coast. He is now the chief policeman of the district in which De Gaulle lives.

FARM MACHINERY PLANT TURNING OUT TORPEDOES NAVY NOW DISCLOSES

CHICAGO, June 2.—(P)—The beautiful torpedoes for aircraft now going into maximum production at International Harvester Company cost from $10,000 to $12,000 apiece, but the Navy believes they're going to be worth it.

They figure to get a big return on their investment whenever these new weapons stick their noses into a $60,000,000 battleship or split in two an enemy aircraft carrier.

International Harvester started from scratch to produce the torpedoes in March, 1942, by altering several buildings at the old McCormick works, where formerly nothing deadlier than harvesting machinery was turned out.

INCREASE IN FERTILIZER FOR GRAIN IS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(P)—The War Food Administration has announced it will permit the use of chemical nitrogen in 1943 fall-sown grains to increase production of livestock feed. Such use was prohibited in 1942.

The action affects chiefly the eastern soft red winter wheat production area, particularly Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania and some of the southern states.

NO COMPROMISE ATTITUDE TAKEN BY BOTH SIDES

Union Boss and Operators Defy Government as Pits Remain Closed

NEGOTIATIONS RESUMED

Meanwhile, Ways To Avert Paralysis of Industry Feverishly Studied

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(P)—The War Labor Board checked the coal mine walkout back to President Roosevelt today "for such action as he deems appropriate" and told the disputing parties to stop their contract negotiations.

UMW President John L. Lewis and the operators' representatives had just begun on fresh efforts to settle their dispute, which has resulted in half a million miners staying away from work in the war vital industry.

However, said the board unanimously, "any agreement on the issues by the parties while the workers are on strike" and the negotiators are subject to "strike coercion" will not be considered or approved.

The miners and the operators, informed of the board's order, went back into joint session immediately without making any comment. They had suspended meeting briefly while waiting for an expected announcement from the board.

Lewis said the government appeal to get the mines going again was a matter "to be given consideration."

The producers and United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis called another conference in Washington with the expressed intention of going at the problem from the beginning. This was decided on after each side rejected the other's compromise offers yesterday when the second 15-day truce expired and

Quintuplets' Physician Victim Of Pneumonia

NORTH BAY, Ontario, June 2.—(P)—Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo, former physician to the Dionne quintuplets, died today in a hospital here. He was 60 years old.

Dr. Dafeo, who gained international prominence nine years ago when he attended the quintuplets at birth, died at 11 A. M. five minutes after he had been admitted to the hospital.

Dr. D. A. Campbell of North Bay, who was at the bedside, said death was due to pneumonia.

Dr. Dafeo had returned to his home at Callander from Toronto yesterday morning.

Two years ago—on April 14, 1941—Dr. Dafeo underwent a major operation, the nature of which was not disclosed.

It was on February 14, 1942, that Dr. Dafeo finally gave up his connection with the quintuplets. He offered his resignation to Premier Mitchell Hepburn, then premier of Ontario, "because his position has been made almost impossible by reason of the fact that the children are not allowed to speak English." Later the physician said he quit because "I felt that my usefulness had come to an end."

Plane Did Raid West Coast

PORT ORFORD, Ore., June 2.—(P)—The public learned today of the enemy's fifth futile attack on the west coast, as a sneak incendiary raid by a lone airplane more than eight months ago.

Believed launched from a Japanese submarine last Sept. 28, the plane flew over the Oregon coast in the early-morning fog so dense a forest service lookout was unable to see the ship although it droned directly by his tower on a mountain near here.

The lookout, Lauren S. Giebner, followed the sound of the motor as it moved northeastward. He heard a blast and saw a flash, as if a bomb had been dropped.

Giebner reported to forest headquarters and watched sharply for the fire. When the fog lifted two hours later, he spotted it in a heavily timbered canyon three miles away.

A crew of fire fighters hiked two hours over rugged mountains to reach the blaze and bring it under control.

The army previously announced a small plane flew in from the sea near Brookings last Sept. 9 and dropped two bombs. This plane also was spotted by a lookout and the fires controlled quickly. Japanese markings were found on fragments of the incendiary bombs.

War On Axis Subs Is Getting Results; Saga Of Disaster

LONDON, June 2.—(P)—Increasingly deadly Allied convoy escort services sank more enemy submarines in May than in any other month of the war and in the past two months the number of operating U-boats in the Atlantic appears to have decreased, A. V. Alexander, first Lord of the Admiralty, declared today.

He told the House of Commons that in the last 12 months the total enemy submarines sent to the bottom exceeded the number sunk in all of the previous war period and that in the last six months the rate of destruction was 25 percent above the previous half year.

He said it appeared the number of sea marauders sent to the bottom during the month just ended was greater than the Germans could produce in all the facilities available to them.

Attack Centers on Island of Pantelleria - Stepping Stone To Axis Stronghold

Yank Bombers Smash at Enemy on New Guinea; Zeros Shot Down

By ROGER GREENE (By The Associated Press)

Allied warships have swelled the assault on the Mediterranean island of Pantelleria, it was announced today, bombarding the so-called "Italian Gibraltar" twice within 48 hours in what may be the prelude to a landing attack.

Pantelleria lies 45 miles east of Cap Bon, Tunisia, and about half way across the Sicilian Strait toward Sicily.

In Allied hands, the island would serve as a convenient stepping-stone for invasion of either Sicily or the Italian mainland.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said Allied naval forces shelled the island yesterday afternoon and Sunday night, reinforcing the aerial havoc inflicted on the Italian outpost day after day, virtually non-stop, ever since the fall of Tunisia May 12.

Naval salvos fell on the barracks and artillery batteries, Gen. Eisenhower's command said, and although there was some retaliatory fire from the shore in yesterday's daylight attack, the Allies suffered neither damage nor casualties.

Once again, the double-barreled thrust pointed up Allied control of Mediterranean waters without interference by the shore-bound Italian fleet.

The communique said American warplanes also battered at Pantelleria and returned to the assault on Italy's other chief

Woman Shoots Self When She Survives Blast

MARION, June 2.—(P)—An explosion wrecked the home of Mr. and Mrs. Terley Vance early today and while firemen were investigating, Mrs. Vance shot herself in the head, Chief of Police William E. Marks reported.

Vance was injured critically in the blast which was touched off as he lighted a cigarette immediately after arising, Marks said.

Mrs. Vance was reported in serious condition.

First Air Raid Test Here Scheduled For June 9

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Crucial Battles Developing In Russia, Is Belief as Fight Flares on Long Line

The Russo-German battle-front is in a highly explosive state.

The great fighting-line, along which many millions of troops are facing one another on the alert, is seething fiercely. The Nazis are making lightning stabs at the Russians, now here and now there, and the Reds are replying in kind—each feeling out the other fellow's positions to learn disposition of troops and find weak spots. Also to keep up the war of nerves which always precedes an offensive.

The lid of that pot of trouble is rocking about so violently that it's strange it hasn't blown off before this. Both sides evidently are set for major action. Each gives the other credit of intending to launch an all-out offensive—and likely both are right.

Hitler in particular has been showing signs the past few days of getting his war-machine trimmed for a possible last huge gamble against the Bolsheviks. However, he is proceeding cautiously so as not to get caught with an Allied invasion of western Europe while he is in a life and death struggle with Stalin.

The Puchner's first problem is to determine where the Anglo-American Allies are going to attack, and he must be burning a lot of incense to that much talked of intuition of his. He has another possible clue for his mystery today in the reports from Spain that there's a massing of Allied cargo vessels, transports and warships at Gibraltar.

Does this indicate an attack in the Mediterranean theater? It certainly could mean that very easily. However, that's Hitler's worry. As remarked before in this column, if the all highest decides that the first Allied assault is coming against Italian territory and not through France, he may launch an assault on Russia forthwith. An invasion of western Europe is the one that would place him in the greatest immediate peril.

Hitler is estimated by observers to have something like 3,000,000 men on the Russian front. That represents a terrific weight, if he still has the equipment to match it. His objective in another offensive, of course, would be to render the Red Army impotent before he has to rush to defend himself against the other Allies.

There's small likelihood that the Nazi chief can show anything like his former striking power. His losses in materiel the past year have been recorded in Moscow reports as colossal. For instance, dispatches from the Russian front state that during the month of May the Germans lost more than 2,000 warplanes in the eastern theater.

And far worse than the destruction of the machines is the loss of the Nazi airmen involved. Heavy depletion of its ranks of trained pilots is one of the Luftwaffe's greatest weaknesses.

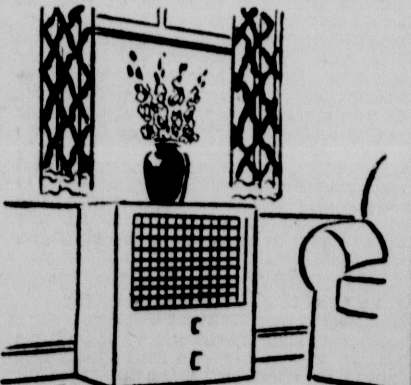

Meantime the Red airforce is showing signs of increased strength.

It's worth noting that June is the witching hour for offensive-minded generals in the European zone.

PLANS ARE LAID FOR BLACKOUT IN THIS AREA

County as Well as City and Villages Covered by Defense Orders

Sometime during the night of Wednesday, June 9, the whistles and sirens will be heard in Washington C. H., and warning signals will be flashed to other parts of Fayette County, announcing the first blackout and air raid warning test in this community.

This is the first test to be made here by order of the Ohio State Council of Defense and with the full cooperation of the U. S. Army. An officer of the Fifth U. S. Army Corps area, together with representatives of the Ohio Council of Defense will be here to observe the operation of the air raid warning signals, the complete blackout test and will note whether the entire personnel of the Fayette County Civilian Defense Council organization operates efficiently as well as determining the cooperation of all citizens.

Fayette is one of the nine Ohio counties composing the special district in which this blackout test is to be made on June 9. The other counties are Ross, Pike, Scioto, Vinton, Jackson, Lawrence, Gallia and Meigs.

The exact hour of the alarm to be sounded here is kept a secret. Only the U. S. Army and the state organization officials know the exact time it will be given. This is done to simulate a real alarm for an actual air raid, to determine how well prepared these communities are in case an unexpected warning should come if a real enemy air raid should occur.

Arrangements for this practice test were completed at a meeting of representatives of the Civilian Defense Councils of all counties in this district, held at Chillicothe Tuesday. Chairman Edwin Ducey, Col. Rell G. Allen and Fred Rost, who are in charge of various phases of the civilian defense work here, were in attendance. Upon their return a special meeting of the executive committee of the Fayette County Council of Civilian Defense was called to begin active preparations for the test here.

Don't Use Telephones

One of the most important features of an air raid test, as emphasized to the group of officials at the district meeting, was that the public be impressed with the urgent necessity to stop using the telephones when such an alarm is given. The public is advised that experience has shown that cooperation along this line is vital and essential. The importance of keeping the telephone lines clear for official messages cannot be stressed too strongly, it is stated, since a breakdown of the telephone system carrying warning messages and instructions, could prove disastrous, especially if an air raid warning was given for an actual enemy attack. All citizens are therefore urged—ing guns, the cutter sank the submarine in the Atlantic several weeks ago when the raider was detected lurking in the path of a "large and important convoy making for an Allied port."

Completely submerged and with her periscope down, the submarine was located by Soundman Harold V. Anderson, Kewanee, Ill., and the Spencer, commanded by Commander Harold S. Berdine, 41, of Staten Island, made two depth charge runs over it.

Efforts by the submarine to get under the convoy in hope that the noise of the cargo ships' screws would interfere with the Spencer's detection devices failed, and the cutter remained on the raider's trail and dropped a third "basket of eggs."

"The worst threat was now over," the navy related. "Not a 'fish' had been fired, nor had a ship been touched. However, the cutter still continued her pursuit. The U. S. Coast Guard cutter Duane charged in to assist, and the Spencer made ready to let go with her fourth attack when a lookout shouted:

"Conning tower on the port quarter!"

"Gun crews on both the ships trained their guns instantly on the submarine and opened a withering, effective fire. At the same time, the Spencer rang up full speed and headed for the U-boat prepared to ram.

"As the damaged sub moved slowly ahead through the calm seas, members of her crew took stations on the bridge and returned the fire of the American ships with the light gun mounted there.

The Spencer's lifeboats were riddled, a boat davit was nearly cut in two; bridge flag bags, bulkheads and doors were damaged.

"Submarine crewmen who made for the heavy deck gun, however, were driven back by the accurate fire from the escort vessels' guns.

"Round after round was pumped into the undersea raider, and the after part of the conning tower was completely torn away. Then, just as the Spencer was on the point of ramming, the fire from the submarine suddenly ceased, and many members of her crew were observed abandoning ship through the conning tower.

"The cutter turned aside and waited, ready to resume the assault; but the battle was over. The U-boat's propellers stopped, she dropped lower in the water, then rapidly plummeted down.

"Circling, the Spencer picked up more than 40 submarine crew members who were floating in the water, supported by rafts and life belts. Locating the U-boat's survivors was not difficult; some were on rafts, the others adrift, but all of them safely supported by their escape lungs which were used as life belts. Nevertheless, as they awaited rescue, they acted in a very hysterical manner, shouting and waving arms so frantically that no doubt was left as to their existence and location.

The sea was smooth, there was a moderate breeze and conditions were generally fair. No doubt the depth charges and heavy gunfire had unnerved them; several were still hysterical on coming aboard. All prisoners were impressed by the deadliness of the depth charges. Several threw up their hands and exclaimed, "waserbombs; terrible, terrible!"

And, the navy added, now the men of the Spencer's crew can shave—they had sworn not to shave until their ship had a positive submarine sinking to her credit."

The submarine torpedo was invented in 1776.

FAILURE IN PROPER PLANNING

The difficulties experienced in a comparatively small county like Fayette with reference to the pulling of local doctors into the armed services, is nothing compared to some communities which are practically without trained medical help. Yet even here hardships are reported as a result of the doctors being so overworked that they cannot find time to visit some cases which seek their help, as soon as they ordinarily would under normal conditions.

After extensive first-hand survey the Office of War Information has confirmed that the recruitment of physicians and surgeons by the armed forces was done in a helter-skelter, hit-and-miss fashion which has created serious problems.

Of eight generalized conclusions based by the OWI on its studies, one stands out: "In too many cases physicians were recruited for the armed services without sufficient regard for the welfare of the civilian population."

This has nothing to do with the number taken, which already reaches close to 45,000, or approximately one-third of the nation's active full-time doctors. If the Army, the Navy and the other services need 45,000 doctors or 75,000, they must have them.

The complaint is that, in the absence of even a pretense of advance planning, and without any statutory plan for handling the emergency, Uncle Sam stepped out and swung a bullwhip. Physicians and surgeons who were enthusiastically patriotic, and those who were susceptible to quick draft, and those whose dependents would have suffered severely if the breadwinner were to be taken on a private's $50 a month, were rushed into uniform.

Civilian health is of vital importance in the arsenal of democracy. But no effective effort was made to select doctors so that, while the services were getting their fill, communities at home would be left with medical protection.

There was a pretense of this. How shallow the pretense was can be attested by millions of persons who saw the system at work in their own communities, and is typified by the OWI's story of one 12,000 middle Southern area which has no doctor and the nearest hospital—a small private one—20 miles away.

There used to be one doctor to serve this entire area. He was declared non-essential! All efforts to have him released by the Army were futile. Before leaving, the doctor brought in a friend to take his place. But the friend was 28, and within a few months he, too, was taken into the Army. A druggist, assisted at times by the mayor, is practicing medicine illegally rather than see his neighbors die for lack of any care.

Why did we drag this up? To cry over spilt milk? Not at all. This is not ancient history. It is going on today, as more and more doctors are torn loose, without plan or much consideration, while the boys in Washington say there

HUGE PAYROLL

Government now is paying more in wages and salaries than all American industry was paying in 1939. This includes the armed forces, and also state and local governmental units. But it does not include subsistence for soldiers, sailors, marines, coast guardsmen, etc.

The Federal Government alone is employing as many civilians as are engaged in making planes, ships and other transportation equipment, including those employed in the automotive industries.

There are about 13,500,000 persons on government payrolls. Their yearly remuneration totals about $13,500,000,000.

These figures come from the National Industrial Conference Board. Probably they don't prove anything. But Uncle Sam is a big boy now, isn't he?

WORKING AT ODDS

To the many of us who have always loved France, it is sad to see that even in their current tribulations, many of the French people are not willing to lay aside ideological intolerances and unite in the only cause that really matters, the liberation of their country.

Democracy necessarily rests upon compromises, upon subordination of unessential differences. France fell because she had been split into so many uncompromising factions that she could not function. Our attempts to liberate her are handicapped because that division still persists.

And—those Americans who foster and encourage French factionalism at a time like this by attacking the good faith of either DeGaulle or Giraud, are unintentionally but very effectively, playing Hitler's game against the United Nations.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Wartime censorship and news restrictions have had three important effects on the visits of such foreign personages as Prime Minister Winston Churchill:

(1) On the surface, they have cut complications for the news-men and visiting bigwigs to the irreducible minimum.

(2) They have simplified the job of the Secret Service, which is charged with guarding these visitors, in spite of the fact that war has increased Secret Service responsibilities a thousand-fold.

(3) They are establishing a dangerous precedent against complete freedom of the press, recently manifested in the restrictions imposed at the international refugee conference in Bermuda and the world food conference at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

While the latest visit of Churchill to this country doesn't quite cover all the points, it does illustrate the lengths to which news restrictions have gone. News-men here weren't even warned that Churchill was on his way.

Except for his two speeches (to England and before Congress) Churchill had no contact with the United States press throughout nearly all of his stay. His few public pronouncements were made through the British Press service in the form of handouts—and President Roosevelt, in his press conferences, during the same period, refused to comment on the sessions he, Churchill, and their military advisors had held.

Thus, on the surface, Churchill and Roosevelt didn't have to worry about the press or public reactions, nor did newsmen have to worry about getting beaten on any story. The actual situation goes much deeper than that, however. A secret conference between Churchill and Roosevelt could very easily stir up an adverse public opinion and destroy morale in some of the United Nations.

As for the newsmen, to have to operate totally in the dark is one of the greatest complications of all. The press of this nation has demonstrated a dozen times over (as in the case of the President's trips) that it can keep a secret but knowing the secret in advance gives the press an opportunity to interpret the news adequately and intelligently when it does break.

Washington observers say it is this demonstration of lack of confidence that is rapidly giving rise to criticism against news restrictions. This lack of confidence reached a climax in the original plans on the White Sulphur Springs food conference, where a subject that affects every individual in this country and most of those in the world was being discussed, a subject (the future feeding of the world) that couldn't by any stretch of the imagination be interpreted as a military secret. Yet if original plans had gone through, the press would have been barred completely from any look-in on the conference at all.

On the other hand, probably never in the history of this nation at war has the press been so free. In the first World War, President Wilson followed the precedent of his predecessors, eliminated all press conferences, and practically all cabinet members and military officials followed suit.

Diet and Health

Steps Used in Diagnosis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IN ORDER to explain the point of view of your physician while he is carrying out the procedure of trying to find out what is the matter with you, let me go a little further into the subject of the history, which we discussed briefly yesterday.

The history, or as the physician calls it, the anamnesis, is the record of the patient's symptoms, past illnesses and hereditary background as the patient is able to explain it himself. Every physician worthy of the name not only obtains this history from his patient, but he makes a written record of it for his permanent files, to which is added the results of the physical examination and the different laboratory examinations.

Divisions of Record

The complete record of the patient falls into the following divisions:

1. History.
2. Physical examination.
3. Laboratory examination (microscopic and chemical examinations of urine, blood and other body fluids).
4. X-ray examination (if indicated).
5. Special examinations (such as the electrocardiographic examination of the heart, basal metabolism, etc.).
6. Treatment recommended.

We will discuss these headings in detail from time to time during the ensuing weeks. This is purely educational—an endeavor to make you acquainted and sympathetic with the mental processes your doctor goes through in trying to understand your case.

The history consists in several subdivisions. First, the purely statistical data: Your name, address, age, telephone number, social status and your occupation. Social status (single, married, divorced or widowed), occupation and age are really very important, especially age, because certain diseases are automatically ruled out at certain ages. Under social status you may remember that one of Dr. Conan Doyle's characters was famous for a monograph called "Obscure Nervous Lesions in the Unmarried." And occupation is notoriously related to disease.

The second subdivision in the history is "chief complaint." This is a guide-post because it states in the patient's own words the principal thing that he thinks is the matter with him. If he says "shortness of breath," it narrows the field. Whatever else your examination reveals, it must explain why the patient is short of breath.

The third subdivision of the history is called "present illness" and is an expansion of the chief complaint. The patient states how long he has been ill, whether the trouble has been continuous or intermittent.

Past Illnesses

The fourth subdivision of the history is "past illnesses," in which you try to find out whether anything in the patient's history could have been the cause and origin of the present trouble. Thus a history of rheumatic fever may explain a heart condition that exists even as much as 30 years afterward.

The next subdivision of the history is the family history. This is designed to find out whether there is any chance that the present disease is hereditary in nature. In practice this is the least satisfactory of the subdivisions of the history because few people know very much about their family history.

SYNOPSIS

Notified that her brother, MELVIN MARSDEN, is missing in action, JEAN MARSDEN, who has risen to the top as a fashion model, quits her job to become secretary to STEVE LANDIS, director of a new rubber plant in Mexico. Jean has an abrupt introduction to carfare, hand-some CUTLEY, employed by MR. AND MRS. PARKINSON, owners of the Rancho Carolina. Jean appears to have roused the jealousy of ROSITA, pretty little Mexican girl who is in love with Curley.

YESTERDAY, Mrs. Parkinson tells her husband that she doesn't think Rosita will do anyone harm because of her jealousy toward Jean.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

IT WAS the next evening after dinner, while leaving the dining room, that Mrs. Parkinson turned to Jean and Rosita. "I think right now would be an excellent time for us to start making plans for the fiesta."

"I think it would be fun," Jean said. "Never having seen a fiesta, I'm afraid I won't be much help; but I'm still in favor of it."

"Rosita is really an authority on fiesta. I'm relying greatly on her help."

The dark, surly look that had clouded Rosita's piquant face ever since Jean had moved to the rancho suddenly disappeared. Lights danced in her dark eyes, a flash of white teeth showed as she smiled the delighted smile of a child.

"Gracias, Senora Parkinson. I love the fiesta. Together we will make plans excellent." Her voice rippled with excitement.

"Let's go in the study, where we can talk without being disturbed." Mrs. Parkinson proposed, "while the men enjoy their cigars in the patio."

The three women went into the book-lined room, with its brightly tiled fireplace, its soft red leather furniture, its massively carved desk that once had belonged to Madero. Mrs. Parkinson sat at the desk and took up pen and paper. Jean stifled a smile at the way the little Spanish girl was preening over her new importance. She was posed before the portrait of her mother, from time to time darting a maliciously condescending look at Jean.

"Let's see," Mrs. Parkinson began, "the guests will be arriving about noon. They'll be famished after the long motor trip, so I think it best we start things off with a typical Mexican barbecue."

"Buenos!" Rosita cried. "Die de fiesta always begins with the barbecue!"

"And what shall we have to eat besides the barbecued meat?" Mrs. Parkinson asked.

Rosita's eyes danced in the soft glow of the desk lamp as she chanted the menu. "Well, we have the gar-naches first, then huevos rancheros, guacamole, albondigas, camote con pina—" She rattled off the dishes so fast Mrs. Parkinson could hardly keep up with her as she scrawled off notes on her paper. When she had finished writing, she turned to Jean humorously. "Does that sound good to you?" she asked.

"Not knowing the contents of a single dish, it sounds dreadfully confusing," Jean laughingly admitted.

"It's really quite simple," Mrs. Parkinson smiled. "Garnaches are what we would call in the States, hors d'oeuvres. Huevos rancheros is an egg dish made with peppers, onion, tomatoes and chili powder. Guacamole is made from avocados. Albondigas is what we would call meat balls. Camote con pina is a very delicious dessert made with sweet potatoes and crushed pineapple."

"Sounds wonderful!" Jean said gaily. "And after that, I hope, a siesta!"

"No!" Rosita's slim body straightened in horrified protest. "After the barbecue, she comes the rodeo!" Jean frowned. "Oh!"

Rosita pounced upon this reaction with glee. "Don't you like the rodeo?" she inquired sweetly. "I'm afraid I don't," Jean admitted. "It seems so brutal—and dangerous."

Rosita's black eyes flashed scornfully. She gave a taunting laugh. "Only the cowards fear danger!" she cried. "Brave men love it! That is why," she added with sudden wicked serenity, "Curley will ride the wild devil charro who twice killed men!"

Jean knew that she had paled by the gloating expression in Rosita's eyes. Inwardly it made her furious that she should react so violently to the mention of Curley's name. She told herself over and over that he meant nothing to her—she even entertained the thought that it would be a good thing if this horse did throw him—maybe it would knock some sense into his head!

Then she heard Mrs. Parkinson's calm voice. "Don't worry about Curley. There never was a horse so wild he couldn't handle."

On a nervous ripple of laughter Jean drawled, "I should be more inclined to feel sorry for the horse!"

Mrs. Parkinson smiled at her and went on making pages of notes. "After the rodeo," she went on, "we will have a couple of hours for rest and getting ready for the banquet."

"That will be out in the open?" Jean asked, grateful that the subject had been changed.

"Yes, I thought it would be nice to have the tables around the swimming pool with colored lights strung everywhere," Mrs. Parkinson said.

"And after the banquet we will dance!" Rosita cried.

"Yes, we will have the Jalisco sisters do their dances while everyone still is at the table and then after that there will be the music for general dancing."

The plans grew. There would be a group of mariachi singers singing ranchero songs from the upper balcony between dances. They would have the Jarabe dance the second night—that dangerous Mexican knife dance where the dancer slashes razor-sharp knives over his head, then behind his back to wild, tempestuous music. They planned games for the guests, prizes to be won, something gay and exciting for every minute of their stay.

Mrs. Parkinson finally broke it up after a glance at her watch. "I had no idea it was so late! I thought the men would be in before this. I guess they're tinkering with that plane again."

The familiar phrase suddenly took on suspicious significance to Jean. WERE Curley and Mr. Parkinson working on the plane these nights? Wasn't this her first duty in the unpleasant business of investigating?

She waited until Rosita and Mrs. Parkinson had gone to their rooms, then slipped out the side door, skirted the end of the hacienda and started rapidly in the direction of the hangar. She was passing under the low branches of a huge old live oak when she saw a movement in the shadows ahead. She stopped short, stifling a scream. The figure moved closer. It was Curley!

"Sorry if I frightened you," he said gaily, "but I'm glad to know you were coming out to find me."

Anger followed Jean's swift shock of fear. "You're impudent!" she flared.

"You mean to say you weren't going to the hangar?" he murmured incredulously.

Her anger choked her—anger at the low business of spying that could get her into a spot like this! "Look here, Don Juan," she burst out, "you may be heaven's gift to half a hundred little Mexican girls around here, but it doesn't mean you're irresistible to me!"

His hands on her arms held her while his dark eyes laughed down into hers. "What's wrong about me—for you?"

She controlled the trembling of fury in her voice. "I prefer an adult," she said clearly. "A man who takes his part in the things going on in the world. Who doesn't run out on his country when there's a war!"

"Oh!" His voice was flat . . . but with humor, not hopelessness, and his hold on her arms didn't relax. For one breathless moment of high hope she felt he had a reason—that he was going to explain—to clear himself. Then his laughter broke. His arms reached out and drew her to him. "But if Curley went into the Army," he murmured, his cheek against her hair, "who would serenade the lovely senoritas?"

Disappointment swept away her illusion. In sharp revulsion, she broke free and, turning, ran blindly back toward the patio. As she ran, she was further annoyed to find she was crying.

Enslaved People Driving Nazis Nuts

NEW YORK, June 2.—(P)—The secret Dutch radio station was on the air. A Dutch Nazi had been killed by patriots in Utrecht, and the broadcaster was brazenly giving details of the slaying.

Three weeks later the gestapo still was searching for the underground station. It came on the air again, taunted the Nazis by describing a visit to gestapo headquarters in Amsterdam with a full description of the building's interior even to the pictures on the walls and the dirt on the tiles.

The gestapo still hunted in vain. And Dutch patriots still listened at their radios.

This one incident in the Nazi versus Allies radio war is recalled by the Netherlands information bureau here since a report from London that Nazi authorities in Holland had ordered the confiscation of an estimated 1,000,000 radio sets in an attempt to keep the people from hearing and heeding Allied invasion signals.

The order was interpreted in London as an admission by the Nazis that the Dutch listened only to free stations—the United States, British and other short-wave broadcasts and those of the Netherlands government in London.

The Netherlands government frequently has broadcast instructions to Dutch civil servants and the population over radio range from London. During the recent crisis after the German decree for the reinternment of all former members of the Netherlands armed forces as prisoners of war, the Netherlands government advised the ex-soldiers not to comply, and asked the people to aid them in avoiding arrest.

The Nazis themselves have shown on numerous occasions how fruitless were their efforts to woo the Dutch away from the Allied broadcasts.

On July 16, 1941, after a year of Nazi rule, the head of the central Nazi office for public welfare, in Amsterdam, declared "many Dutchmen look unhealthy" and ascribed this appearance to "unhygienic living conditions including the fact that they stay up late at night listening to the forbidden radio."

The newspaper Volk En Vaderland, Dutch Nazi party organ, said last fall, "at home the children listen to the British radio while religious teachers tell them Nazism 'is a weapon of Satan.'"

SENIORS AT SABINA RECEIVED BY ALUMNI

New Association President
Is Robert Wilson

As the new president of the Sabina Alumni Association, Robert Wilson today had replaced Jess Carter, who had guided the organization for the past year.

Wilson, with the other officers elected at the annual meeting which always brings the school year to a close, can start now laying plans for next year's event. Stanley M. Johnson was chosen for the first vice president; Charles Moore, the second vice president; Louise Hoppes, the recording secretary; Mary Fisher, the corresponding secretary; and Richard Pavey, the treasurer.

Ninety-nine members of the association attended this year's banquet.

Carter welcomed the class of '43 into the organization. Mrs. Walter Stackhouse played the professional.

Carter introduced Prof. Runyan, who in turn introduced Coach Henry, who had the old members of the organization meet the new members from the class of '43.

Carter then spoke to the new members and the response was made by William Wilson, president of the graduating class.

The long auditorium was filled with tables that were decorated with red and white carnations.

Boys and girls of the freshman class served the two course dinner, that was prepared by the Sabina Mother's Club.

The roll was called by classes. The class of 1918 celebrated their 25th anniversary, and of the 20 members who graduated in this class, 9 were present.

The names of the 63 boys from Sabina High School, who are now in the armed services, were read by the secretary.

The guest speaker for the evening, W. H. Mustard, was introduced by a classmate of his who graduated the same year as Mustard, the class of 1897, T. O. Dakin.

Mustard, the speaker for the evening, now resides in Columbus. He spoke on "Where Am I." This address was greatly appreciated by the audience and Mustard was asked to return to his home town when ever possible.

Lt. Vernon Atkins of the class of '33, was also present. Atkins is in the Army Air Corps, and is stationed at Miami, Florida.

After the business meeting and speakers had finished, the floor was cleared and some of the members danced to the music of Irving Swingle and his band.

There were many out of town members present and it is hoped that even more members will be at the alumni banquet next year.

THREE ANSWERS TO YOUR DREAM OF A SUMMER HAT

SUMMER HATS are bobbing up again and here are three lovely prizes from a collection at Saks Fifth Avenue in New York. The green parrots on the chartreuse lace straw model, upper left, may not talk, but the hat itself speaks eloquently of flattery. Triple fashion threat is the black lace hat with triangular shape brim at lower left. Crownless, with a black velvet ribbon, it is ideal for dining and dancing under summer stars. Natural lace straw to go with everything is the basis for the giant beehive shown on the right. It takes on a glamorous air by the addition of a ruffled black grosgrain ribbon around the brim and crown. There's plenty of femininity in these models. (International)

Coon Hunters' Association Ready To Launch Program With 35 Members Signed

With a nucleus of 35 members, the new Fayette County Coon Hunters Association today was all set to get its program of conservation speeded with sport under way.

The preliminaries were disposed of a week ago when a handful of enthusiasts got their heads together and decided to form an organization to promote their favorite outdoor hobby and do their part in keeping the county stocked with raccoons.

The first meeting was held Tuesday night in the second floor room of the Record-Herald Building. By-laws were adopted and general plans for achieving the broad purposes of the association were discussed.

The previous week's efforts at developing the membership showed results when the names of 35 new members were read. The

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, June 2.—(P)—Comeback record. —Ernie Lanigan, the international league's historian, figures this probably still stands as a record baseball comeback. . . back in 1888 George Haddock, one-time battery partner of Connie Mack, lost 20 straight games for the Troy, N. Y. Club. Then he went to Washington (and no cracks, please about the Senators still getting that kind of hurler), and lost two more there. . . in 1891 and 1892 the same guy had bounced back to become a 30-game winner with Boston in the American Association and with Brooklyn. . . another record, maybe?

Righteous Indignation

When the Chicago White Sox blew into Philadelphia recently, the clubhouse attendant chalked the name "Frisch" on Jimmy Dykes' locker. Jimmy promptly exploded. "Take that off of there," he bellowed. "I'm no Frisch. That Frisch is the kind of fellow who is mean to umpires and gets thrown out of ball games."

One Minute Sports Page

Orlo (Hooft) Robinson, the pride of Winfield, Kas., is the new general sports editor of the Associated Press, replacing Herb Barker, who now has a bigger job of seeing that your favorite newspaper gets all the best news first. Helen Dettweiler, who won all the women's golf titles in the Washington, D. C. sector before she turned pro, is due to get her wings soon in the ferry command.

Service Dept.

When Lt. Bob Dunbar, former Auburn basketball mainstay, crashed while flying over a South American jungle, his rescuer was Lt. C. V. Grace, also a former Auburn student. . . former British Davis Cup tennis players, Charles Hare and Bunny Austin, both are stationed at Atlantic City, N. J. Hare is a medical detachment and Austin taking basic infantry training.

Something Fishy

When Coast Guardsman Gregory Reeser of Cincinnati returned to San Francisco after a year in Alaskan waters, he brought an appeal for fishing tackle from the soldiers up that way. . . On Amchitka Island, he reported, he saw men fishing with shovels, and that didn't mean they needed them to pile up tall fish stories. . . "They were actually scooping fish out of the streams—that's how plentiful they are," he said.

Scrap of Cards and Dodgers Features Spring Baseball

By JUDSON BAILEY

(By The Associated Press)

The National League is expected to have a stupendous scramble for the pennant every fall as a matter of course, but this year the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals are staging a spring show that may very well dwarf anything that can happen later.

Usually at this early date there are several teams that must be regarded as pennant possibilities. But the Dodgers and Cardinals know they are the only two teams in the league with any reasonable chance of winning and they are counting the games they play against each other this spring just as crucial as the ones that will come at the close of the campaign.

After dividing a four-game

Sunday Jinx Near End, Is Hope of Reds

By Gabriel Paul

CINCINNATI, June 2.—Baseball moves in cycles, so now the Reds, having experienced a jinx that has caused them to play poor ball on Sundays, are looking forward to a new cycle that will make them a Sunday doubleheader outfit.

Last year, in the early part of the season, the Reds were terrors on Sundays, then slipped off later in the season. This is an omen the Reds are keeping in mind, for they believe that the tables will turn and now they will become as terrific on the Sabbath as on the other days of the week.

If the Reds' percentage on Sundays this year had been equal to that of the other days of the week, they would be leading the National League.

The next trial for McKeechie's men in the peculiar situation will come this coming Sunday when they tackle the surprising Boston Braves in a pair of contests at Crosley Field.

series at Brooklyn last month and a doubleheader in St. Louis Monday, they waded into each other again yesterday and at the end of 12 innings of almost unbelievable baseball the raging Redbirds had an 11-9 victory and were within half of a game of first place.

The two teams made 35 hits, 20 by St. Louis and 15 by Brooklyn, paraded a total of nine pitchers to the mound, and passed the head back and forth like a hot tip on the second floor.

Finally it was a two-run homer by Harry (Little Dixie) Walker, his first of the season, that decided the game.

The two rivals are ticketed for the final game of the series tonight and on the result will depend whether the Dodgers or the Cardinals are in first place tomorrow.

Pittsburgh beat the Boston Braves 5-4 in 14 innings and the Cincinnati Reds stopped the New York Giants 3-1 to set up a triple tie for third place between the Reds, Braves and Pirates.

The Philadelphia Phillies pounced on the last place Chicago Cubs for their second triumph in three games 7-2 with old St. Johnson pitching seventh-inning ball.

Action in the American League was limited to two night games in which Washington whipped the Cleveland Indians 3-2 in ten innings and the Detroit Tigers came from behind to beat the Philadelphia Athletics 5-3, ending a seven-game winning streak for Jesse Flores.

Toledo U. Ball Star Inducted into Army

TOLEDO, June 2.—(P)—Chuck Chukovits, former University of Toledo basketball star, was inducted into the army yesterday and ordered to report to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. A scoring ace, Chukovits won all Ohio honors three straight years with Toledo. He wound up his collegiate career four years ago.

NEW OWNER OF PHILS TOP BASEBALL TRADER

CHICAGO, June 2.—(P)—The biggest trader in baseball today? It's young Bill Cox, new owner of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Since purchasing the Phils less than four months ago, the wealthy 33-year-old lumberman has added 12 players, parted with four and disposed of some of his ready cash—all probably behind the scenes handwork of veteran Bucky Harris, now field generalissimo of the Phils and a "boy wonder" in his own time.

Even so, Cox' only counter part today is Branch Rickey, ex-St. Louis Card and present Brooklyn boss. In their one faceoff, young Cox walked off with four Dodgers without giving up a player at a time when master swapper Rickey had eyes on several Phils.

And yesterday in a straight swap of outfielders with the St. Louis Cards he obtained three players—Coaker Triplett, Buster Adams and Dain Clay (who will report from the Cards' Rochester Farm)—for his Danny Litwhiler, a hitter whose clouting has fallen off recently, and Earl Naylor.

Today there already were rumors another Phil deal, involving Triplett, was in the offing. That's fast work, but Cox says speed is an essential to success is the only thing about baseball of which he is certain. And speed, he added, was the main asset of all three players obtained yesterday.

Cox, whose speed complex dates back to his interest in track, said that Clay, the only minor leaguer involved in the Card deal, "can run like everything." The inclusion of Clay may have been desirable because all four Philly infield regulars are subject to early draft calls.

Few Fans Out To See Reds Whip Giants

CINCINNATI, June 2.—(P)—Cincinnati fandom likes its baseball but the Redleg management is convinced the fans prefer their 6 o'clock dinner a mile more.

The front office points to yesterday as an example. The Reds and the New York Giants played a twilight game, starting at 5:30 P. M., and only 1,155 of the faithful were on hand to see their heroes spank the Giants 3 to 1.

And a pretty fair sort of a ball game it was too. Veteran Ray Starr allowed the New Yorkers five hits but kept them well scattered. The Reds got only five hits off Johnny Wittig but they got them when they needed 'em.

Eric Tipton, Cincinnati left fielder, hit a long homer over the scoreboard in left field in the fifth inning—his third round-tripper of the season.

Wittig was removed in the eighth for a pinch hitter and his successor, Ace Adams, the league No. 1 fireman, gave up nothing more than a loud foul.

The Reds and the Giants finish the present series today. Harry Feldman, Giant right hander, is slated to do the pitching for Mel Ott and Manager Bill McKeechie told Buck Walters to get a good night's sleep in order to report for work today.

Bottom Hit By Blues in Dizzy Dive

(By The Associated Press)

Kansas City's nose dive in the American Association race touched bottom today.

The Blues, 1942 pennant winners, needed just 13 days to drop from third place to last. In that time they lost 10 of 12 games played, half of them by one run margins.

They shifted places with idle Louisville yesterday by losing to Milwaukee, 5 to 1.

In yesterday's only other game, Minneapolis came to life after going scoreless for 20 consecutive innings and pounded out an 8 to 1 victory over St. Paul.

Third place Columbus engaged the Great Lakes team but lost in a slugfest match, 16 to 8.

MOTOR TRAFFIC SHOWING STILL GREATER DROP

Decrease of 41.3 Percent In Traffic Outside Of Cities

Automobile traffic on the highways outside of cities has shown a tremendous drop in recent months compared with the same time in 1941, the last normal year, and a checkup shows that the decrease is still continuing month by month as the tire and gasoline rationing grow more acute.

Practically the same situation applies in Fayette County as in the remainder of the state, although the drop is probably not so great as in some areas, due to the fact that automobiles must be used by the farmers to a greater or less extent.

It is expected that further declines in traffic will, by the end of the year, reduce total traffic 50 percent on highways outside of cities.

Director H. G. Sours of the Ohio Department of Highways, has revealed that the decline by months was:

January, 34.6 percent, as compared with January of 1941; February, 25.5 percent; March, 36.6 percent, and April, 41.3 percent.

The traffic count was made with permanently fixed markers scattered over the state on arterial highways and farm-to-farm outlets and maintained by the department's planning survey.

The decline in traffic this year as compared with the corresponding period of 1942, after gasoline rationing was imposed in December, was disclosed by Director Sours as follows: January, 35.4 percent; February, 26.1 percent; March, 27.1 percent, and April, 28.4 percent.

Both rationing of gasoline and difficulty in getting tires and replacement parts for present-day cars is believed responsible for the continued decline in traffic. Inability of out-of-state motorists to do much interstate traveling also is considered partially responsible for the decline.

FILIPINO SPEAKS AT CHURCH TONIGHT

Land Where Three Boys from Here Held Is Subject

Juan Baroni, president of the Manila Bible Seminary, is to be the special guest speaker (tonight) Wednesday evening—no Sunday as originally and erroneously reported—at the North Street Church of Christ.

The services are scheduled to start at 7:30 P. M., the pastor, Rev. R. B. Carver, announced.

Mr. Baroni, who was in the United States when the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor and launched their "blitz" conquest of his homeland in the Philippines, is to describe the work of the Church of Christ missionaries in the islands of the far Pacific where many American boys are now at grips with the Jap aggressors.

Rev. Carver said, "the public is cordially invited to this service."

Many parents and friends of the boys from here now fighting in the far Pacific are expected to go to the service in the hope of learning something of the tropical lands where they are battling the Nips. At least three boys from Fayette County are known to be prisoners of war, captured when Manila was taken and Corregidor fell. They are believed held in or near Manila, which the missionary knows so well. The three are Phil DeVault, Elmer Streitenberger and Owen Cox.

PROPOSED INCREASE IN TAX RATE

"An additional tax for the benefit of the Washington City School District, Fayette County, Ohio, for the purpose of providing funds for the current expenses of said school district at a rate not exceeding three mills for each one dollar of valuation, which amounts to thirty cents for each one hundred dollars of valuation, for a period of two years, to wit: the years 1943 and 1944."

☒ FOR THE LEVY

☐ AGAINST THE LEVY

This three mill levy replaces the present two mill levy and will only increase the school tax rate ONE MILL. This is to be used for a slight increase in the salaries of teachers and other city school employees, whose salary schedule is not in keeping with the rising cost of living.

A special election becomes necessary because teachers must be notified by July 1st of each year as to their salaries for the next school year.

ALASKAN TRIP IS DESCRIBED FOR ROTARIANS

Rev. John K. Abernethy Is Speaker at Weekly Luncheon Meeting

Recounting his interesting experiences on a trip to Alaska a few years ago proved a very entertaining talk by Rev. John K. Abernethy, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Washington Rotary Club.

The speaker told of a rare opportunity which had been afforded him to make the trip with a party which was securing pictures in connection with Presbyterian mission work being accomplished there. He visited many out of the way places such as Pt. Barrow and also enjoyed trips to Fairbanks, Sitka and other better known places.

During the business session of the club, County Agricultural Agent W. W. Montgomery introduced Kenneth Craig, who is identified with the Fayette County school system, explaining that during this summer Craig has been appointed as a special assistant to aid in the county's farm labor program which includes the registering and assigning of city and village residents who have expressed a willingness to lend their personal aid as much as possible in helping farmers plant, cultivate and harvest crops during the labor shortage.

Mrs. Ralph Gage was introduced as the new club pianist during the absence of Miss Elizabeth Godfrey who is visiting in California.

FIVE-MONTH-OLD CHILD SUCCUMBS IN AMBULANCE

Funeral services for Robert Colin Knisley, five-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Knisley, of near Greenfield, were held in the Clouser and Co. Funeral Home in Greenfield, Monday, and burial was made in the Good Hope Cemetery.

He died early Sunday morning in the Clouser ambulance while it was en route to Children's Hospital in Columbus. Pneumonia was given as the cause of his death.

The first plastics material, celluloid, was discovered in 1870.

ENFORCING TRAFFIC LAWS IN NEARBY CITY

Residents of this community are being cautioned to obey traffic laws while in Xenia, as the officers there are enforcing traffic laws in an effort to make the streets safer for drivers and pedestrians generally.

The proximity of the airfields to Xenia and the fact that traffic has greatly increased makes rigid enforcement necessary, it is explained.

No speed trap is being maintained, it is pointed out, and those who obey the traffic laws generally have nothing to fear.

VISITING SOLDIERS CAN OPERATE AUTOS

Men in the armed forces who are home on leave need no drivers' license to operate an automobile, under a new ruling, and upon their return from service it will not be necessary for them to take a driver's test in order to obtain a driver's license.

This was announced Wednesday by Howard Allen, secretary of the Fayette County Auto Club.
